PRISON OR MENTAL HOSPITAL?

Blum To Determine Penny's Consequence

Penny Bjorkland will either be sentenced to prison or committed to a mental hospital for the slaying of Daly City gardener August Norry.

This is the outlook for next Tuesday when Superior Court Judge Frank Blum, also of Daly City, hears testimony to determine the 18-year-old's mental status at the time of the brutal killing.

Penny, as relaxed as a schoolgirl on a picnic, Monday this week changed her not guilty plea and again admitted she murdered Norry, the married man who befriended her and became an innocent victim.

In pleading guilty, Penny asked for waiver of a jury trial, thus leaving the decision solely in the lap of Judge Blum.

Howard Hartley, deputy district attorney, next week will press for a first degree murder conviction, attempting to prove that the murder was premeditated and the girl knew exactly what she was doing.

If Penny is found guilty of first degree murder she would get a life sentence in prison, with the provision that she must serve at least seven years.

If Blum rules that the slaying was not premeditated, a second degree murder edict, the girl could get from five years to life in prison.

Testimony by psychiatrists could be conclusive enough to show that the young blonde is legally insane. If this is Blum's finding, he could have her withdraw the guilty plea and commit her to a mental hospital.

Both Penny's and Norry's parents were present in court

Schools Give City Deadline On Road

Jefferson Elementary School District trustees last week fixed a March 1 deadline on city use of the temporary road which has been installed by Zita Corporation to replace the strip of old Edgemar road that was blocking development of the M. Pauline Brown School site in St. Francis Heights.

The tempoary route, about one-third of a block long on the western tip of the school property, will be used until Callan Company realigns its portion of Eastmoor avenue, which will include payment of all costs and city-approved grading specifications.

The council's long negotiations with Callan and McKeon companies to expedite the road realignment are expected to be finalized by next week with final grading agreements and a clearance of the deed to the Callan strip to be used in the realignment.

The council last week closed public hearing on vacating old Edgemar road and will take final action next Monday night.

The March 1 deadline given

STEEL STRIKE WILL DELAY NEW RESERVOIR

Daly City's public works department has met a small snag in construction of the new reservoir, located west of Skyline boulevard, because of the steel strike, according to Otis Calhoun, public works director.

The E. M. Penn Company's $98,356.50 project was supposed to be ready in four months from the time construction started but Calhoun says the target date of November 1 cannot now be met due to the strike.

Holding 1,500,000 gallons of water, the reservoir will serve people living in Westlake units 10 and 11, the area along Skyline boulevard, and St. Francis Heights.

Bus Service For Palisades Kids Granted

Because of the hazardous crossings at Westridge and Westmoor avenues on Skyline boulevard, Jefferson Elementary School District trustees have approved bus transportation this fall for youngsters temporarily attending Vista Mar who will later attend Abraham Lincoln.

At Monday's meeting the board decided these pupils will have to be transported by bus since they reside beyond the ¾ mile limitation established by board policy. Though Vista Mar is within the ¾ mile "walking distance" it was agreed the Westridge and Westmoor crossings on Skyline are too hazardous for children.

The attendance area for Lincoln School will include all children in the area west of Skyline. Lincoln should be completed in late January.

San Pedro Road Residents Should Change Addresses

Patrons of the Daly City Post Office residing on San Pedro road, westerly from Junipero Serra boulevard to the terminus at Saint Francis boulevard, were reminded that the City Council action in changing the name of San Pedro road to San Fernando Way is effective immediately.

Postmaster Vincent P. Murphy invites all residents of San Pedro road to obtain free cards with which to change their addresses with friends, publishers and other correspondents. Murphy urgently urged that this be done in order that no delay might be encountered in the delivery of newspapers, magazines, letters and other mail matter.

All employees of the Daly City Post Office have been instructed to assist patrons in this changeover.

Fireman Specht, Wife Chosen DC's 'Silver Anniversary' Pair

Frank M. Specht Jr., fire battalion chief, and his wife, Helen, turned the "hat trick" to become Daly City's "Silver Anniversary Couple" last Wednesday.

Fred Martin, project chairman for the Daly City Chamber of Commerce, said the voting on the five couples entered was so close that the winning duo had to be picked by a drawing. Harold P. Bradshaw, editor of Marchbanks Publications, supplied the hat and the Specht-choosing hand.

The Spechts will be honored at a dinner ceremony with Silver Anniversary Couples of other Peninsula cities at the San Mateo County Fair on August 8. The four other couples here will receive free passes to the Fair's activities.

The Spechts were the couple married the longest of the five Daly City applicants. They were wed on February 17, 1934, in San Francisco. He's 45 and she's 43. They have one son, Ronald, a 24-year-old bank teller now living in Corte Madera. His wife is expecting in January.

Specht is one of the pioneer members of the fire department here. He spent four years as a volunteer and has nine years as a regular. He is in charge of fire prevention and inspects causes of fires, holds fire drills at schools and inspects construction.

The Spechts live at 100 Lincoln avenue, Westlake, and ironically, a new fire house is to be built across the street from their home (at Lincoln avenue and Edgemont).

Previous to their move to the new Lincoln avenue address, they spent 14 years at 64 Guadalupe street here. Specht is a graduate of Jefferson High and has lived 39 years in San Mateo county. Helen is a graduate of Mission High in San Francisco.

Other Daly City couples who entered in the silver anniversary contest were: David and Fay Adams, 94 Brooklawn avenue; Anthony and Mary DiMaggio, 588 Lausanne street; Joseph and Sally Lewkowitz Sr., 501 Vista Grande avenue; and Edward and Rosie Walthard, 971 Southgate avenue.

NAMED Daly City's "Silver Anniversary Couple" last week and due honors at the San Mateo County Fair on August 8 are Fire Battalion Chief and Mrs. Frank Specht Jr., residents of 100 Lincoln avenue in Westlake Unit 10. They were married on February 17, 1934. Frank has lived in the county 39 years. The Chamber of Commerce handled the local contest.

Elementary Schools Eye 4-Acre Site For Central Office

Jefferson Elementary District trustees Monday night appointed Angus McSweeney as project architect and moved to purchase 4.12 acres of land in St. Francis Heights to be used for the construction of a central administration office and education center.

Superintendent Richard Foster has hopes that the office quarters will be finished by September of 1960. The purchase of the property must be agreed upon by the state after two appraisals are received by the board.

The parcel of land, owned by the Olcessi family and located on county property off old San Pedro road and adjacent to the Daniel Webster School site in St. Francis Heights, would bring together five interlocking phases of elementary education administration.

Administrative and office quarters, an instructional materials center, an area for meetings, and the development of workshops with instructional materials will be the multi-purpose use of the new building.

The school district offices are now located in Westlake Medical-Dental Building and are leased from Henry Doelger company.

City Recreation Report Shows Top Attendance

Dee Van Nest, director of Daly City's Department of Parks and Recreation, reported today that an all-time attendance record was set here during the 1958-1959 fiscal year, ending in June.

A total of 241,603 persons visited the city-school recreation areas during the past year. This is an increase of more than 45 per cent over the 1957-1958 year.

The department attributed the over-all increase to a cooperative working arrangement with Jefferson Elementary School District and Jefferson High School District. Both districts have made funds and facilities available to the city for an economical joint-use recreation program, Van Nest asserted.

HEARING SET ON NEW DC ZONING CODE

Public hearing on Daly City's new zoning ordinance and map was continued last week by the planning commission to its August 11 meeting.

First hearing on the ordinance brought protests from the Doelger Company, blinds and shade store owner Ray Charette, and druggist Elton McGraw. Earlier, other Mission street merchants and realtor Bill Lagomarsino asked city officials for more clarification of the new ordinance and some changes before it becomes official.

The new ordinance, amending and actually superseding the present zoning ordinance passed in 1948, is the result of the Hahn, Wise & Barber firm's $16,000 master plan survey for Daly City. The survey included a Land-Use Plan, recommending zoning, which came up for public hearing Monday night.

The map which designates the proposed zoning areas, existing property and undeveloped land, is located in the Public Works Office, War Memorial Building, daily from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. The public is invited to examine it before the hearing.

Manager's Absence Cancels Budget Meet

Special budget study session of the city council Tuesday night was called off due to the absence of City Manager George Watts. He departed last Thursday for Los Angeles to attend the funeral of his mother.

The council will meet in regular study session this Thursday night at City Hall, 75 Wellington, followed by their regular meeting next Monday night at 8 o'clock.

STORMY PUBLIC HEARING

Mission St. Trio Cite 'Bad' Survey

Only 12 of Daly City's 38,000 residents attended first public hearing on the community's proposed Land-Use plan Monday night, but three of this dozen made such a protest that the city council continued the hearing for two months — to September 21.

Between now and September, by council directive, maps on both the Land-Use and new Zoning ordinance will be posted at key spots for public inspection. The maps will be located at city hall, public works office (War Memorial Building) and at the Westlake Fire Station.

Protesting terms of the Land-Use document, which serves as a guide to the council and planning commission in future zoning were Ray Charette, 191 Bepler street, owner of DC Blind and Shade Company; John Putkey, attorney, office at 6654 Mission street; realtor Ricco Lagomarsino, 7100 Mission street, and Carl Timmons, chief engineer for the Henry Doelger Company. Timmons was the mildest of the four as each challenged the validity and "zoning control" of the Land-Use document, drafted at a cost of $8800 to the city by the survey firm of Hahn, Wise and Barber.

Ed Robinson, representing the survey firm, opened the session with a 20-minute explanation of the Land-Use document, pointing out that it was the first unit in a four-phased Master Plan to giude city officials in municipal expansion.

Following the Land-Use acceptance, he said, will be similar documents on streets and highways, parks and recreation and public buildings—all integral parts of the overall Master Plan.

Robinson, challenged strongly by Charette, Putkey and Lagomarsino, on the "quality" of the Land-Use Plan, answered that it was primarily a "general guide" for the city in considering future zoning, pointing out that it covers some 4000 acres while the city at present occupies only 1500 acres.

The consultant said the Land-Use document and map would not change existing zoning and that zoning changes would still have to be made through normal channels—petitions, hear-

COUNCIL ASKS COUNTY ADVICE ON HOSPITAL

Councilman Bob St. Clair, chairman of Daly City's newly formed hospital study committee, has called a meeting with county health department officials here on Thursday, August 30, to discuss the hospital proposal.

Making an "independent" study in an attempt to determine the needs and the financial aspects of a hospital within Daly City, the council is steering clear of the hospital district study group headed by Leo Ryan, South San Francisco councilman.

"We are glad north county leaders are working for a hospital, but since Ryan's group hasn't coordinated his plans for a local hospital with us, we feel our own study will be more worthwhile and representative," St. Clair remarked.

He added that Daly City officials would welcome talks with Ryan's committee and the hospital study group in Westlake, led by Dr. Sanford Marcus and supported by several resident physicians. The latter group met Tuesday evening in Westlake as the newspaper went to press.

$4230 Damage To Windshields By Kid With Gun

Four Mission street car dealers will have to repair 41 car windshields with a total of $4230 being paid for the work.

A 10-year-old boy with a BB gun is being sought for his part in the wrap-around windshield marksmanship. Most of the cars damaged were either new or late model used cars which were parked in the two front rows of the lots.

The damage was done between 8 p.m. Sunday and 1:30 a.m. Monday.

The boy did most of his target practicing at Columbus Motors, 7276 Mission street, where he cracked 14 windshields for a total of $1875. He aimed at all the cars in the first two rows.

Impeartrice Motors, 7096 Mission street, was close behind with a total of 13 windshields broken at a cost of $780. Almost every car in the front row of the used car lot had its windshield broken.

Al Jones Used Cars, 7300 Mission street, reported seven cases of glass breakage totaling $700, while C. M. Murphy Used Cars had seven windshields broken at a $875 loss.

Elementary Schools Get 49-Star Flags

Dr. David Shapiro, assistant superintendent in charge of business affairs for Jefferson Elementary School District, today said 230 classroom flags, 12 outdoor, and 12 auditorium flags with 49 stars have been purchased at a cost of $285.

Ed Morgan, Jefferson High School District superintendent, related that his district has decided to wait for the new 50-star flags, letting the present supply of 48-star pennants suffice.

OPPONENT TO CALLAN?

DeBernardi Eyes Supervisor Race

"I should know by the end of next month," said Councilman Micheal DeBernardi today, "if I'll be a candidate next year for county supervisor."

If the 33-year-old Daly City gas station owner does enter the race he'll be one of the youngest candidates for the high-powered county board in history.

Thus far, the only announced runners in the '60 campaign for the $9600 a year job are incumbent Tom Callan Sr., the leathery, 68-year-old builder and landowner, and San Bruno's Jim Fitzgerald, a busy councilman with big political ambitions.

Rumored hopefuls are South San Francisco Mayor Andrew Rocca and John J. Romano, executive secretary of the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce and a leader in the San Bruno unit of the Democratic party.

DeBernardi's decision, he says, depends on the number who eventually will be in the race. He thinks chances are better if only one candidate takes on Callan.

He admits Callan, who'll be seeking his third term, will be tough to beat "due to his influence throughout the county."

As for Fitzgerald, DeBernardi, also a Democrat, said he feels the San Brunan lacks support and recognition up this way.

"The biggest factor facing any candidate," DeBernardi offered, "is being able to muster uniform county support.

"I feel my record is well enough known in the north county to give Callan a real battle for the job. But convincing the south end that I can serve effectively and well is a major undertaking."

Callan, who now resides in Daly City, noted late last week that prospects were for a wide-open field of opponents in the campaign.

But he commented mildly: "I think all these rumored candidates are good men and voters should give each full consideration."

Callan expects a close race and he's prepared for one.

Along with DeBernardi, Daly City Councilman Joseph Verducci has been approached by many friends to enter the scramble.

Verducci, well known throughout the Bay Area in sports circles and popular with fellow north county officials, is believed to have a stronger county-wide reputation than any of the other would-be rivals to Callan.

Verducci, however, is facing re-election next year here, along with Councilman Francis Pacelli, both of Westlake. If he should decide to try for supervisor, Verducci's intentions probably will be made known by September 1 — the time the campaigning begins in all earnestness.

HEARING SET ON NEW DC ZONING CODE

the zoning hearing, the new ordinance goes to the city council for final consideration.

In other business last week, the planners:

1. Set August 11 for hearing on petition of E. Cardellini, 6185 Mission street, to rezone one lot 75 feet south of Mission street on Crocker avenue from R-1 to C-1.

2. Approved use permit application of QRS Neon Sign Company to erect a new double face plastic sign at Richfield Station, 3356 San Jose avenue.

3. Denied application for use permit filed by Westlake Car Wash, 2075 Junipero Serra boulevard, on 8x16 sign along Junipero Serra next to Lake Merced Lodge motel.

4. Held over until August 11 application for variance filed by L. H. Comer, 159 Santa Cruz avenue, to permit construction of two dwellings on Lot 116, on Oliver street south of Brunswick street.

JESD Hires 5 More Teachers, Seeks 16 More

Jefferson Elementary School Board of trustees hired five teachers Monday night but still have to secure 16 more for the new semester, according to Superintendent Richard Foster.

Hired were Mrs. Alice R. Bohn, Mrs. Natalie Crowe, Mrs. Sally Marsden Manuel, Miss Carol McHugh and Mrs. Sylvia Jassie.

Mrs. Bohn attended the University of California and received her A.B. from San Francisco State. She has one year

Mrs. Crowe attended San Francisco State and University of Wisconsin, where she received her A.B., and has three years teaching experience.

Mrs. Manuel received her B.S. degree from the University of Southern California and taught one year in Santa Monica.

Miss McHugh received her A.B. from Stanford and had two years experience in the district on a provisional credential.

Mrs. Jassie received her A.B. from Brooklyn College and has two years experience in New York.

In other business the board divided the milk delivery assignments among eight companies; retained A. M. Bender and Company for insurance coverage during the construction period; set the salary rate for students working part time in the bookroom at $1 with a raise of five cents per hour for each year in service; and hired Woodward, Clyde, Sherard and associates for soil testing, and A. Abbott Hanks for other testing at the Lincoln, Edison and Webster schools.

The board also approved a total $300 bid for the seeding at the M. Pauline Brown School and purchased a 520 square-foot parcel of land at the site from Mrs. Dorothy L. Maxwell, 1655 Sweetwood drive, Colma, for $500.

last Monday. The slain gardener's father told the press that the girl is "just as sane as anyone else and should be put away so she won't harm other people."

Penny didn't even give her aggrieved parents, who live at 241 Oliver street, Daly City, any sign of recognition Monday. Psychiatrists who have examined her by direction of the court all have noted that she has an unnatural dislike for her family.

Arras Company Gets Olympia, BF Contract

Adam Arras and Son, lowest bidder for construction of a music room at Ben Franklin and addition of three classrooms at Olympia School, was awarded the $199,546 (less deductive changes) construction job by Jefferson Elementary School District trustees Monday night.

An amount of $9,479.29 will later be submitted as a deduction from the total cost to meet State Department of Finance requirements.

Erbentraut and Summers were awarded the low bid of $19,003 for Olympia and Ben Franklin additions of a speech and counseling room, sprinklers and remodeling of an administration unit. The contract calls for a 90 per cent completion by September 1.

Protests Hit Land-Use Plan

ings before the planners and eventual council consideration.

Charette, Putkey and Lagomarsino, all charging that the Land-Use scheme was poorly drafted and devised without consulting merchants and landowners in the most affected areas, asked the council to junk the document and come up with a plan that would conform to community needs and the wishes of the citizenry.

Councilman Micheal DeBernardi interrupted to declare that the Land-Use Plan was the "starting point in our overall Master Plan," but noted, "I'm not about to approve any phase of the long-range plan until all four parts are presented and are clear."

Charette, president of the DC-Colma Lions Club, in a letter to the council cited the lack of public knowledge on the Land-Use Plan and its implications, "complacency" on the part of the local press and public over its adoption, and in general, the lack of foresight by the Hahn-Wise-Barber firm in suggesting rezoning, particularly failure to allow future commercial expansion along Mission street and the public a voice in urban redevelopment of the area between Junipero Serra and San Jose avenue.

"This plan lacks initiative and imagination," Charette's letter declared, "and is very inadequate for a community such as ours."

He urged the council to nix the plan and request the consultants to produce something better.

He said the present Land-Use proposal lacks plans for parking facilities and building setbacks in the general business district along Mission street, contains no provisions for transportation and improved traffic circulation, is incomplete on highways and freeways, contains no concrete data on a redevelopment project to eliminate the blighted condition of the older section of the city, is without definite suggestions for the development of the abundant Crocker Estate area east of the city, and has the "unrealistic idea" that commercial districts should be confined to squared off areas instead of being extended along major streets.

Charette suggested that a Citizens Advisory Committee on City Planning be organized, representing all sections of the community, to assist the planning commission, and that neighborhood hearings be held, at which representatives of Hahn-Wise-Barber would be present to explain in detail the Land-Use and new Zoning ordinance implications.

Mayor Edward Dennis, answering Charette's "complacency" charge, declared the council welcomed public participation and noted that the press was cooperating.

Accompanying Charette's letter was one from Fred MacDonald, chairman of the board of trustees of Masonic Temple, "speaking for the merchants along Mission street and more particularly for Crocker Lodge." He pointed out that the new zoning map does not make provisions for parking facilities on the lots adjoining the rear of those fronting Mission street.

Citing this alleged lack of off-street parking projections and its effect on Mission street business, MacDonald added that the Crocker Lodge, with a membership of 450 persons, currently rents its facilities to four business houses and eight fraternal organizations.

MacDonald went on, "I'm speaking for all the merchants on Mission street and more particular for Crocker Lodge, we realize that it is merely a question of time that the trend of all shoppers is to frequent those areas which provide ample off-street parking."

He continued, "There was a time when off-street parking facilities were secondary, however at the present, these facilities are a primary and necessary factor. Without off-street parking expansion, it could well spell the doom of every business along Mission street."

Robinson's explanation of the four-phase aspect of the Master Plan, showing that documents also will be presented for adoption on streets and highways, parks and recreation, and public buildings, answered most of Charette's challenges in his letter to the council.

But Charette, Putkey and Lagomarsino still cited numerous "discrepancies" on the way the Land-Use document was determined.

Charette reminded that in previous appearances before the planning commission, his suggestion that the city consider urban renewal instead of redevelopment was turned down and also that if the Land-Use Plan as now drafted is adopted, the city would have the right to eminent domain to enforce recommended zoning.

"What this plan really means," Charette continued, "is that once it and the new zoning ordinance are adopted as written it is San Francisco of the Master Plan, the citizens will have no control."

The mayor and Robinson, however, quickly reminded Charette that this was not the case, that all future zoning still would be weighed in the normal manner, using the land use plan and new zoning ordinance as a guide and standard to follow.

Robinson admitted there is a lot of latitude in the Land-Use document and that the "discrepancies" on the Land-Use maps were merely because suggested developments and zoning could not be pinpointed exactly.

Timmons, representing Doelger, asked if the park sites designed on the land-use and zoning maps would make parks mandatory in these new areas, a move that had been declared "unconstitutional," he said, by court verdicts in other areas. Timmons wanted to know if the city was ready to buy such property in advance.

Robinson replied that if land were already zoned for other purposes, he couldn't see how a zoning guide would cause the landowner to surrender this property. Again Robinson reiterated that the Master Plan's land-use recommendations were just that—recommendations.

"It's still up to the planning commission and council to pass on requested new zoning," the consultant added.

As for the many "unknowns" not designated on the maps, Robinson allowed that the indefinite route of the freeway was a delaying factor and that certain areas recommended for industrial zoning, (from Alemany east of Junipero Serra south to School street, west of Junipero Serra south from West Market and south of San Pedro avenue to Woodlawn cemetery, and in the Crocker Hills area above Lausanne and running to Market street depend on the availability of the land.

Robinson also pointed out that the land-use plan was always subject to periodical change, and recommended a review by city officials each year.

"In the absence of a land-use Plan," Robinson asserted, "the city can only use its zoning ordinance which is subject to social and economic pressure. A zoning ordinance does not provide for long-range projections, thus a land-use document is a valuable tool in the development of any growing community."

Robinson explained that DC land set aside for commercial use is relatively high, about 8 percent of the city's total area. But he noted that this figure would decline in view of the city's predominantly residential nature.

Industrial acreage, on the other hand, is very low, with les than one-half an acre presently so designated. The need for industrial zoning is obvious.

Forty-five percent of land within Daly City is vacant, Robinson noted. In most cities, only about one third of the property is undeveloped.

Amount of public land is particularly low here, notably in the east of town where the schools are old and occupy small acreage.

The amount of land here presently occupied by streets and highways and their rights of way is high, but Robinson said this will decline in proportion to the addition of more dwellings and commercial establishments.

Councilmen Joseph Verducci ended Monday's session with a motion for continuing the hearing.

It was apparent that majority of the council feel changes are necessary in the Land-Use Plan and believe more public interest in its scope is warranted.

The planning commission approved the plan in May.

Thieves Return Safe But Not Its Contents

Ambitious thieves took a safe containing $2400 cash, a $500 set of earrings and a $500 check, then brought the safe back with the contents missing to the basement of 370 Miriam street.

Billie May Heath, who resides at the Miriam street address, and Louis G. Fitting, 725 Ellis street, are part owners of the Hot Dog Palace, 1201 Grant street, and reported the theft of their receipts last Sunday, saying the safe had been stolen within the previous two weeks.

There were no signs of forced entry to the basement though the basement door was left open. The 500-pound safe was carried off and apparently brought to a machine shop to force entry, said Officer Jerry Galindo.

Officer John Van Otten noted that a drill was used to bore through the safe which had five inches of solid concrete and then a half inch of solid steel holding it fast.

The $500 check in the safe was signed by Richard Paulson, owner of the My House

Schools Set Deadline On Temporary Road

the city on use of the temporary road, in turn, puts the pressure on Callan to complete Eastmoor.

Fortunately, the city's action in speeding the vacation of the old road allowed the school district to maintain its schedule for the new school.

The school site is completely graded out and construction of the buildings hinges on State Allocations Board approval next month and acceptance of final plans of architect Mario Ciampi.

The 12 classroom plus one kindergarten elementary school, named after the pioneer Colma educator, will cost about $700,000 to build. Construction is to start later this fall and the school should be ready for students by December of 1960.

According to Dr. David Shapiro, assistant superintendent for business affairs, Ciampi's contract on the Brown project does not have a construction deadline.

Public Hearing On New Zoning Ordinance Set

The Daly City Planning Commission will hold a public hearing on a proposed zoning ordinance for the city on Tuesday, August 11, at 8 p.m., in the council chambers of City Hall, 75 Wellington avenue.

When adopted, this ordinance will replace and supercede the existing zoning ordinance, according to Public Works Director Otis Calhoun.

The proposed ordinance and zoning map will be on display at the office of the director of public works, 134 Hillside boulevard, Daly City, where it may be viewed by all interested parties until the public hearing.

All interested parties are invited to inspect the proposed ordinance and map and to appear at the public hearing if they wish to be heard on the subject.

Mission Street TV Shop Thief Gets Full Load

Burglars whose main interests are in radio and television took $639.64 worth of equipment from Byrne Radio & TV, 6241 Mission street, while leaving $100 in cash and checks behind.

Officer Ralph Warren was on routine patrol at 3:30 a.m. Friday when he observed the front door ajar and window glass broken at the TV shop. Warren stopped and noticed that a small hole had been made in the glass door and entrance had been gained by unlocking the inside catch.

The thieves took a 21-inch console TV, a portable TV, and eight table model radios. In addition, a 17-inch TV was missing, but the owner said it could have possibly been loaned to a customer.

Suicide Attempt Stopped By DC Man's Brother

A man having marital difficulties at home attempted suicide at the house of his common law wife Monday, according to police reports.

Ronald Rafter, 26, was sitting semi-conscious on the couch at 291 Hillcrest drive when Officer Matthew Murray arrived on the scene. Rafter would not state whether he had consumed any harmful ingredients or whether his abnormal condition was due to over-consumption of alcoholic beverages, Murray said.

He was transported to Junipero Serra Hospital by MD Ambulance Service. The attending physician concurred that Rafter had attempted suicide. A 72-hour hold was placed on him.

Murray pieced this story together from the accounts given by Ruth Louise Rafter, 24, believed to be his common-law wife: Robert Irving Rafter, 36, of 56 San Pedro avenue, and Helen Rafter, his brother and sister-in-law.

Rafter called Helen on the phone early Monday morning and said he was going to commit suicide, she said. A few minutes later, Ruth walked into the room Rafter was in and found him unconscious. His brother came to the house and revived Rafter with ice water and coffee.

The trio said Ronald was having marital troubles and this may have been the reason for his suicide attempt, according to police.

RIFLE-TOTING ROBBER MUFFS TRY FOR CASH

A thief with a pencil-thin mustache held up a Yellow Cab driver with a sawed-off rifle here at midnight Tuesday but didn't get any greenbacks.

Frederick M. Wolfe, 26, of 1115 Escalero drive, Pacifica, was sitting in his cab counting out receipts in the parking area of Spotlight Market, 1 Hillside boulevard, when the man, about 5-8 and 150 pounds, approached.

The thief, "a Latin type," crossed the street from Wellington avenue and stood near the driver's window. Wolfe looked up and saw the gaunt clean shaven 25-year-old who politely asked, "are you in service?"

Wolfe said he was, and the man, speaking with a Spanish accent, queried, "Do you have any money " While he was speaking, he pulled a sawed-off rifle from beneath his grey windbreaker.

The man then asked what Wolfe had in the bag and if it was money. Wolfe replied no but the man took the small cloth bag containing one AAA map, one Daly City street map, some blank envelopes with Yellow Cab return addresses, some Bank of America deposit slips and a made-out way-bill.

Wolfe still had the rifle pointed in his face and tried to placate the man by offering his wallet. The man refused to take it. He told Wolfe, "Get down on the floor of the cab. If you move, I'll shoot. If I don't kill you my friend will."

The driver waited five minutes then used the cab's radio to notify police.

'UNITY' OR IT'S NO HOSPITAL

It is no less than ridiculous that three separate groups—acting independently—are proceeding with studies and plans for a north San Mateo County hospital district or at least one big and modern hospital to serve the residents of and around Daly City, South San Francisco and Pacifica.

No one can deny the need for better hospital facilities up this way. But to achieve any degree of success in the drive for a hospital, unity is one of the most essential considerations.

Finances and taxes being what they are, it is evident that not more than one new hospital for north county residents is possible in the immediate future.

Therefore, why aren't the three separate hospital study groups coordinating their efforts?

Certainly a concerted effort will produce results.

To date, not one of the thre groups officially has gone all-out to secure the cooperation of the other two.

This situation isn't helping the hospital campaign's timetable.

It is hindering the move and may even cause it to fizzle out.

If the groups are really interested in getting a hospital—instead of making the hospital idea a political springboard or a means of aiding private enterprise—they should get together, and do this now.

California Taxpayers Association Opposes Teachers' Salary Bill

Dudley M. Steele, president, California Taxpayers' Association, urged Governor Brown to veto AB 1008, which provides for raising the minimum annual salary for public school teachers from $4200 to $4500, stating that "This measure passed in the last few days of the session through Senate action and Assembly concurrence on amendments to an otherwise unimportant bill on the Senate inactive file."

Charging that "This maneuver eliminated any possibility for study and presentation by our state-wide organization and the many other groups concerned with this proposal," Steele pointed out that Cal-Tex had, in fact, appeared before legislative committees in opposition to the "efforts to augment your budget recommendations for state support of local school districts."

"Not at any time were we led to believe that increased minimum salaries for teachers was an issue at this session of the Legislature, particularly since they were raised from $3400 to $4200 in 1957 and AB 1000 provided for continuing the $4200 level," Steele declared.

Deleterious effects of AB 1008, according to the letter by the state-wide taxpayers organization, would be to undermine the control which school district governing boards have over their school budgets; disrupt present teacher salary schedules — in some cases at the expense of other teachers; and would throw an uncontemplated added burden on local taxpayers.

"California Taxpayers' Association has for years, been vitally and constructively concerned with the problem of financing our public schools," Steele's letter continued. "We firmly believe that any issue of the magnitude and complexity of this proposal deserves far more thought and open discussion than AB 1008 received.

Your outright or pocket veto of this bill would preserve the impression that the recently adopted program for State financial support of public schools in California is the end product of carefully considered budget recommendations followed by thorough and fair legislative deliberations."

Lewkowitz Is Appointed To KIP Board

Joe DiMaggio, chairman of the board of directors of Kids-in-Performance, announced today that Joseph Lewkowitz, chairman of Jefferson Elementary school board, has been appointed to the KIP Workshop board of directors.

Joiring Lewkowitz as new board members are Neal Nash, Hunter's Point market owner and youth organizer, Francis Droesch, Half Moon Bay youth worker, and Primo Amadore, leader of the ICC KIP unit.

Mrs. Pat Griffith, San Francisco reporter, has accepted an honorary membership on the board.

Columbus Queen Contestants Needed In County

Applications are still being accepted for young girls who want to compete in the annual Columbus Day Queen Contest, discloses Dan Casentini, President of the Italian-American Federation of San Mateo County.

Any girl sixteen years or over, interested in participating in this contest is urged to call Casentini at PLaza 6-4521, after 6 p.m. or Mr. Roy Barghini, contest chairman, at PLaza 5-5658, after 6 p.m.

The lucky girl who will finally be crowned Queen Isabella will be awarded a beautiful gift, a percentage from ticket votes sold on the high honor of reigning over the Festival, Coronation, Banquet and Dance, on Sunday, October 11.

President Casentini emphasizes the fact that all proceeds from the Queen Contest will go to the San Mateo County Crippled Children and Adults Society.

Chairman Roy Barghini, of Daly City, states that four young girls are presently vieing for Queen, but the need for more contestants is urgent, because of the worthy and charitable deed of the Federation. Every community and it's citizens will certainly want to contribute to the crippled children and adults, for by buying the votes from the girl contestants, they are directly voting their help to the unfortunate ones of our county.

Among the earliest off-shore il wells were those drilled off the Santa Barbara County coast in 1894-96.

Duncan Hines Doesn't Have Any Taste Buds

By Lou Lucia

Titles of books are very important. We have some recommendations to make to some famous authors. We'll call this little discertation, "How to Improve Ten Million Dollar Writing Into Five Million Dollar Writing."

John Steinbeck, in all of his novels, is forever using some type of lettuce as a focal point. Perhaps a suggestion for him to title one of his books after lettuce is in order. Maybe "The Rise and Fall of the Romaine Empire" would be appropriate?

* * * * *

Remember you heard it here first. We have found out from a reliable source that a certain man does not have any taste buds. His name. Duncan Hines, of course.

* * * * *

Frank Slaughter is an author who made the switch from medicine to writing books. No wonder. Could you picture one of his patients meekly walking into his office and nervously saying, "Is Dr. Slaughter in today."

* * * * *

Could you imagine Herb Caen writing the Declaration of Independence. If he were born about 1760 and writing for the early papers, the declaration may have come out something like this; "Whee. These here peeple of the U. S. in order to form a more p'fect yew-nyun," etc. Thank the Lord he was born in the 1900's.

* * * * *

All of Mark Twain's book titles have misspellings in them. Mark couldn't even spell his own name, 'Train'. Therefore, one of the titles of his books should read, "The Fwamous Jwumping Fwog of Calawewas County."

Cal-Vet, GI Loan Suggestions Given By Granger

A few tips on applying for either a state "Cal-Vet" or federal "GI" loan were passed along to veterans in this area today by San Mateo County Veterans' Service Office, Floyd D. Granger, whose office is at the Courthouse, Redwood City, Calif.

The service officer emphasized in particular the importance of a veteran's filing for a Cal-Vet home loan before he acquires any financial interest in the property he wishes to finance under the Cal-Vet plan. Once he has established his eligibility, and filed a loan priority card, he may then acquire an interest in the home or even arrange temporary mortgage financing.

But if he does this before filing a priority card, his application will be in the "refinancing" category and Cal-Vet loans for refinancing are not permitted. Cards may be filed through the San Mateo County Veterans' Service Office, or directly with the Cal-Vet Farm and Home Purchases Office at 515 Van Ness Avenue, San Francisco, California.

Cal-Vet loans are made of up to $15,000 for a home and up to $40,000 for a farm. The home may not exceed a market value of $25,000, but there is no limit on farm value. Veterans must have been born in California or have entered the service from this state in order to qualify.

As for federal GI Loans, the service officer reminded World War II veterans that they have one year—until July 25, 1960—to make application with the Veterans Administration for this benefit. Korea veterans have until January 31, 1965.

A direct GI loan, rather than one merely insured by the VA but made by a private lender, may be available to veterans in certain areas of California where private financing is not obtainable.

The service officer urged veterans to establish their eligibility for a Cal-Vet and/or GI loan in the near future, even if their home ownership plans are uncertain.

The circus will exhibit in the Sequoia High School Stadium, Redwood City, with matinees both afternoons at 2:15 and evening performances at 7:30.

This year's new edition boasts all the cherished elements that have given the circus its universal appeal through the years.

Animal performers include Prince El Kigordo's Lions, Konyot's Chimpanzees, the Besalou Elephants, Burger's Ken-L-Kade featuring Afghan hounds and the horses of the George Hanneford bareback riders.

Miguel Cervantes wrote 'Don Quixote.' Cervantes ridiculed Quixote no end. I feel sorry for poor Don. I wish Don Quixote could have written 'Miguel Cervantes'. Turnabout is fair play.

If you believe any of the foregoing you should start writing books. A sure fire title for your best seller, no matter what it's about, would be, "Sex, Murder and Love in the Suburbs." Good luck.

Advisory Group Formed To Back County Highways

At the request of Senator Richard J. Dolwig, the San Mateo County Highway Advisory Committee held an organizational meeting at the Hall of Justice and Records in Redwood City last Tuesday.

The organization of the committee, composed of representatives of all cities in the county, county officials, and selected leaders from civic groups, marks the launching of a cooperative, organized program to back highway proposals for the county before state agencies.

The by-laws, proposed by Senator Dolwig and adopted by the committee, set forth the objectives for the committee:

1) To plan for the integration of the city streets, county roads, and state highways in San Mateo County to insure the most desirable pattern which will care for present and future traffic requirements.

2) To promote unified action by the cities, the county and the state in the development of such a street, road and highway system.

(3 To secure the support of the various legislative bodies, civic organizations and individuals in coordinating the expenditures of city, county, state and federal funds for streets, roads and highways so that the planned system can be completed in as short a time as possible.

The committee elected Supervisor Alvin S. Hatch as themvisor Alvin S. Hatch as temporary chairman of a subcommittee to be composed of city and county engineers. The subcommittee has asked to meet as soon as possible to draw up highway project proposals for the coming year. After the subcommittee has completed its work, the full committee will be called together again to adopt the proposed program.

Dolwig said that the experience of Alameda County has shown the value of this type of committee. "The state is more impressed by a coordinated county program, backed by the cities and the county jointly," the Senator said.

Drivers Urged To Be Prompt On Licenses

California motorists can often save themselves time and money by checking their driver's license expiration date and renewing promptly, says the California State Automobile Association.

A person can make application to renew his driver's license at any time within six months prior to its expiration. If he has a good driving record, his new license will be good until his fifth birth date after application for renewal.

An applicant whose record shows a conviction for two or more moving violations within the previous two years will receive a license that expires on the second birth date after application for renewal.

A person who fails to apply for license renewal within 30 days of its expiration, but whose driving record is clean, will be considered the same as a "new" applicant and his license will be good until his third birth date after application.

Written examinations are given to all applicants, whether for an original license or for the renewal of a license. A driving test in which the applicant is accompanied by an examiner may be required of any applicant. It is customary, however, for the Department of Motor Vehicles to require this only, (1) for the issuance of an original license, (2) when a license has expired for more than 30 days, or (3) when there appears to be some physical condition that might adversely affect a person's ability to drive.

By renewing within the 30-day period, then, you can get a license that will be good for a longer period and you will usually not be required to take a behind-the-wheel driving test.

WESTLAKE ADDITION

City Officials Head Walgreen's Drugstore Debut Next Monday

Daly City Mayor Edward J. Dennis will open the new Walgreen self-service drugstore in the Westlake Shopping Center next Monday morning, July 27.

A giant gold key symbolizing "Welcome to Walgreens" will be presented to city officials by Store Manager George Jeffers, registered pharmacist.

According to Jeffers, the beautiful new unit which marks the latest west coast addition for the 59-year-old drug firm, combines all of the latest shopping conveniences developed in Walgreens many self-service stores across the nation.

Walgreens, which operates drugstores in a number of California cities including San Francisco, in addition to over 200 other U. S. cities, had its beginnings as a single neighborhood drugstore in Chicago. Founded in 1901 on ideas revolutionary for drugstore service of that day, the little store heartily welcomed shoppers into attractive surroundings featuring an unusually wide selection of merchandise.

Business flourished and soon another Walgreen drugstore opened. Later, others were opened and today, over 400 Walgreen drugstores serve shoppers from the Empire State to the Golden Gate.

In line with this progress, Walgreens has always considered pharmacy its most important first. Walgreen pharmacists presently compound well over four million prescriptions a year and the number steadily increases . . . reflecting the firm's motto of half a century duration . . . "Compounding prescriptions with the utmost care is the most important single thing in our business."

Charles R. Walgreen, Jr., R. Ph., president of Walgreen Drug Stores, reflects the spirit of his late father, who founded the firm, in guiding Walgreen Drug Stores along traditional lines of courtesy, service and value to everyone.

"Our new Daly City drugstore marks another step in our expansion program for this fast-growing Bay area," said Walgreen, who added: "We're proud to join the business family of this progressive city and especially happy to serve it with one of the nation's finest and most complete self-service drug stores."

Two Teachers Receive First JESD Sabbatical Leaves

Mrs. Eleanor Carle and Mrs. Margaret Clarke are the first two teachers of Jefferson Elementary District to receive sabbatical leaves and will make a tour of 12 counties.

Itinerary for the pair includes stops in Ireland, England, Scotland, Denmark, Holland, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, France, Italy, Greece, Spain, Portugal and Belgium.

The duo will board the liner Queen Mary on September 26 for the Atlantic crossing and will return some time next February. It will be the first trip to Europe for both although they have journeyed together to Mexico and Canada previously.

Mrs. Carle teaches first grade at Jefferson School and has taught in the district for 26 years. She attended "the old" Vista Grande School when she first came here from Denver, Colorado.

Mrs. Clarke teaches fifth grade at Crocker School, the same school she attended after coming here from Ohio, and has taught 32 years here.

The two teachers will send reports of their trip to Superintendent Richard Foster and will take slides which they will show upon their return. Mrs. Carle stated they will try to observe "how other people live" and try to stop at schools to find out more about the European type of education.

PREVIEW — Mrs. Margaret Clarke holds an itinerary sheet depicting landmarks in Germany while Mrs. Eleanor Carle looks on. The pair, oldest teachers from the standpoint of service in Jefferson Elementary School District have been granted the first sabbatical leaves given by the district. CARE Parcels Sent Overseas Benefit Needy

Sixty-six pounds of food and three school kits are being sent overseas as a gift of the Casualettes through their recent donation to CARE, the nonprofit, overseas relief agency.

From national agricultural stockpiles, the U. S. Government has allocated to CARE milk powder, cornmeal and flour which is packed in 22-pound CARE Food Crusade boxes for overseas distribution, reports Michael C. Phillips, Regional CARE Director. These packages are delivered in the names of the American donors and carry messages of friendship and good will.

CARE School Kits consist of such items as scissors, composition books, pencils, crayons, pencil sharpener and paint box, Phillips said. Many children overseas don't even have enough pencils and paper to go around a classroom, he added.

Further information on CARE programs may be obtained from the Regional CARE office, 444 Market street, San Francisco.

PIGS AUCTIONED

Town Of Colma Goes 'Whole Hog' For Cancer Society; Gives $846

San Mateo county's smallest community, Colma, has turned in just about the biggest per capita contribution to the local Cancer Society's fund drive, because everybody helped — even three not-so-little pigs.

Mrs. Albert Lagomarsino, town chairman for the Cancer Society fund drive, reports the town is donating $846.26 to the drive. It has a population of 297 residents.

Mrs. Lagomarsino doubles as town clerk and is the wife of Police Chief Lagomarsino of Colma.

The city's record high contribution has resulted from a special barn dance held at the town hall. A number of items, including pigs, were auctioned off. The porkers weighed as much as 250 pounds.

Mrs. Lagomarsino reports that they were donated through the generosity of Olcese Brothers. Special credit is also given to Lanty Molloy of Giannini's market by the Cancer Society for help in promoting the event. It was attended by several hundred persons.

Lanza Bros., the Native Son Florists, and other merchants, contributed to the project.

Committee leaders for the dance were Mrs. Rena Vallerga, her daughter, Mrs. Esther Whitney, Mrs. Angela Uccelli, Mrs. Eleanor Lanza, Ted Kirschner, and others.

Mrs. Lagomarsino and Mrs. Albert A. Hedge, president of the San Mateo county Cancer Society, praised the residents in the area "for their wonderful support and understanding of the need for such help in promoting fund and educational drives for the Cancer Society."

Something For Everyone

A new book recently acquired by the Daly City Public Library retells in beautiful terms the old story of the men and women who left overpopulated Europe and Asia to find in America freedom from the bonds of poverty, class restrictions, and religious and political slavery.

Here in this book, appropriately entitled "We Came to America," 25 emigrants from 25 countries relate their stories. One of these was a Yugoslavian peasant who became a great scientist; another was a Dutch noblewoman who brought entourage of servants to a log cabin in pioneer Iowa; another was a Romanian princess who denounced her titles for a cottage in Massachusetts; still another was an Irish serving girl who grew so wealthy in America that she was able to bring other people across the ocean to serve her; still another story is by a Greek slave running from a heather master. Each story is as fascinating as a television drama.

Another recent addition to the Daly City Public Library is Henri Daniel-Rop's "This Is the Mass." Here are a series of photographs of Bishop Sheen saying mass. Each photograph is accompanied by an interesting historical and liturgical explanation of that portion of the Mass and a prayerful meditative reading reflecting its devotional mood.

Another noteworthy new book is "The Best From Fantasy and Science Fiction." If you like escapist literature and spine tingling tales, don't miss this one.

One book that has already been noted by residents of Daly City is "Understanding the City Child," by Dorothy Barclay. There is much here that is applicable to situations that arise in Daly City.

Three beautiful new books are "Art Treasues of the Vatican" with 200 half tones and 57 color plates; Goodheart and Willcox "Painting and Decorating Encyclopedia," which is a one-volume library on painting, decorating and finishing; "Flowers — East and West," with a hundred colored photographs.

There are many other new books in the library including the latest novels, the best science fiction and mysteries, the most useful children's books, and the most informative encyclopedias and dictionaries.

They have been acquired for your use. Come in and get acquainted with them. The libraries are at 34 Park Plaza in Westlake and 6351 Mission street.

Governor Signs New Law Aimed At Automobile Repair Racket

Governor Edmund G. Brown today signed into law a bill by Assemblyman Louis Francis of San Mateo County aimed at the automobile repair gyps who are costing California motorists millions of dollars each year in inflated automobile repair and insurance rates.

The measure makes it a misdemeanor for any person to make and submit a false bid for the repair of a damaged automobile, or other damaged property, with the intention that the bid be used to lead an automobile insurance company to believe that some other lower bid has been made in open competition.

Francis, the author, declared that this bill will help curb what he called "one of the most vicious and fastest growing rackets in California's history."

He said that "fraudulent collusion" between some insurance adjusters and automobile repairmen who engage in the ancient dishonest system of "courtesy bids" is one of the reasons for the constantly increasing costs of automotive insurance rates for the public.

Insurance companies, he said, are keenly aware of the racket and are doing everything possible to correct the situation. "They discharge dishonest adjusters in large numbers and blacklist crooked garage repairmen who engage in this fraudulent practice," he said, "but every time they fire an adjusters, two more go wrong, or blacklist a garage, two more spring up in their places. Meanwhile, the average motorist is caught in the middle and pays the exhorbitant costs of this racket.

"The unethical practices of adjusters and repairmen," Francis added, "has hiked the costs of repairs in almost every instance, oftentimes as much as 57 to 100 percent more than they should cost. The result, necessarily, is reflected in insurance rates paid by motorists."

"Automotive insurance rates," he said, "will continue to skyrocket as long as the current kickback system in motor vehicle repair work is allowed to continue."

The legislature enacted this legislation because this racket is assuming unprecented proportions," he declared, "and is costing the people of the country hundreds of millions of dollars in unnecessary and illegal repair charges every year."

"Every motorist who has ever had his automobile's fenders dented knows what I'm talking about," he said. "It is a common practice when a motorist with an insured car, who is involved in an accident that results in damage to his vehicle, to be required by the insurance company to secure two or more bids on the costs of repair, and to have the damage repaired at the establishment offering the lowest bid."

"The first repairman visited will offer a bid anywhere from 57 to 100 percent more than it should be," Francis stated, "and will arrange with friends in the same business to provide the motorist with the necessary additional bids—all larger than his own. Consequently, the first bidder invariably gets the business."

This is a "courtesy bid" system that has become part of the automotive repair business because most garagemen will cooperate knowing that the next time it might be their turn to offer an inflated bid and enjoy the protection of fellow garagemen. The insurance adjuster handling the deal usually gets 50 percent or more of the overcharge.

DALY CITY'S DAVE STAUB, 19, WINS STATE BICYCLING TITLE

"On to the Olympics" is the objective of Daly City's Dave Staub, 19-year-old resident of St. Francis Heights.

Sunday night in San Jose, Dave, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Staub, 386 Eastmoor avenue, won the California State Bicycle championship. He had a total of 24 points in the meet, winning the two and five-mile features and taking second in the one and 10-milers.

Dave this Friday will compete in the Pan-American trials at Chicago, followed by the National Bicycle Championships on August 21-23 in Kenosha, Wisconsin.

Young Staub, oldest of three brothers, is one of the country's hottest prospects for the '60 Olympics' cycling team. In 1956 he won the California Junior Championship and went on to win the U. S. Junior title. Shortly thereafter he went to Europe for almost two years of first-rate competition.

Dave, a graduate of San Francisco's Lincoln High, is a student at City College of San Francisco, majoring in architectural engineering. He eventually will enter University of California.

His mother, Helen, says Dave has been riding bikes since he was 12.

"It's a very good sport and certainly keeps him in good condition," she said. "Also, he has met and competed with some very fine young people."

Dave's dad is a supervisor in the special delivery section of the San Francisco Rincon Postoffice. His brother, Don, 18, is also at City College, while Stan, 7, attends Garden Village School here.

Dual Program At Belmont For Car Bugs

The BCRA speedy midget racers and the NASCAR leadfoots of the stock car division will compete in a combination program at Belmont Speedway this Saturday night.

Promoter Ted Smyth has received entries from the leading drivers of both groups for the twin bill, which will find 50-lap main events topping midgeteers and the professional stockers, not to be confused with the weekly jalopy cars on Fridays.

Among the well known midget Peninsula chauffeurs will be Johnny Baldwin, Dave Moses, Dee Hileman, Dean Holden, Charley Lawlor, Jim Lawson and Dave Lee, who with Baldwin, hails from San Carlos.

San Francisco's Lou Bernardoni, Keith Ross of Daly City, Dick Sieler of San Bruno and Bob Lewis of South San Francisco will see action in the stock car events.

Each group will compete in six events, with time trials rolling at 7:30, and the first trophy dash at 8:15.

DC Drugs Nine Roars On With Two More Wins

Sparkling defensive play and a muscular batting display led Daly City Drugs to 5-1 and 19-2 victories over New Pisa and Saxe Realty last weekend.

Barry Krohn allowed but four hits and two walks in Sunday's 5-1 contest while Mikie Rovai, in particular, shone as the defensive star. Bill Hynes cut down one runner at first on a hit that looked like an apparent single while Ted Ducksorth and Skipper Crudo gloved two hard-hit balls.

In addition, Crudo tripled two runners across the plate. Eddie Walthard added two more scores by singling. With only one game left to play the Drugs team is tied for first place in the North Peninsula High School League.

The Drugs bunched 16 runs in three innings to cakewalk away from Saxe Realty Saturday and remain undefeated in "C" League play.

Brad Rothback and John Vanderburg, Saxe hurler, started out in what appeared to be a pitching duel but the Drugs scored three times in the fourth, six in the fifth and seventh, four in the sixth and once in the final frame.

Hynes wrapped up hitting honors by sending six teammates across the plate. Billy Hix and Terry Christman had two rbi's apiece.

The team meets Hakoah Athletic Club at Balboa Park on Saturday at noon and Millet-Meyer at Marchbanks, Sunday at 2 p.m.

Hunters Face Plentiful Crop For Early Deer Season Opener

Deer should be plentiful and within range of the hunter when the early deer season opens in all or parts of 28 counties on July 25, but the fire danger afield will be extremely high.

This is the gist of a preseason prediction of deer hunting prospects announced today by William E. Warne, director of the State Department of Fish and Game.

Warne urged all hunters to use extreme caution.

"The woods are explosively dry as a result of the very short rainfall and recent high temperatures," he noted. "It takes only a spark to ruin hundreds and even thousands of acres of game habitat. The hunter who starts a fire this year may have no place to hunt next year."

Throughout the area many deer have moved down into the lower elevations, mostly in quest of water. Because water is scarce throughout the state, deer concentration in the vicinity of water holes will be evident on opening weekend.

The season is opening about a week ahead of the normal opener and for this reason hunters will find many deer, particularly in the northern areas, still in the velvet.

Extensive fire closures may result from the drought. Access to public lands could be limited by these closures.

Generally, deer are in good condition, thanks to good survival and good feed conditions over the winter and to a good survival of fawns produced in 1957.

Following is an area-by-area outlook as prepared by the department:

Humboldt—A small portion of Humboldt County lying west of Highway 101 south of Eureka is in the early deer season. The area shows the effects of the general drought. Fire hazard is extremely high and most of the private lands will probably be closed for this reason. Access has been developed on the one large block of public domain in the area. This lies directly on the coast north of Shelter Cove, southwesterly of Garberville. Opportunities should be on a par with the 1958 season. Antlers of most bucks will be in the velvet.

Mendocino, Lake, Napa, Sonoma, Marin — Survival of fawns produced in 1957 has been good in most areas. The 2-year class should provide an increased number of legal bucks in many areas. General, but not extensive, die-offs of deer have been reported and deer survival for the area is normal. Deer concentrations due to poor water distribution and more deer in the lower, more open country may also increase the kill. The condition of the animals is generally good. Fire hazard is extreme due both to drought and insect infestations in large areas of the chaparral. Feed conditions are fair-to-poor, but not critical.

Yolo, Solano, Glenn, Colusa —Only a very small portion in the southwest corner of Glenn County is open and only a small portion in the north portion of Colusa is closed. In the area generally, deer are plentiful at lower elevations and near available water. Ranchers report more deer in the low country than there have been in many years. Very few deer are in the higher elevations, except in the vicinity of water. Deer are in good condition. No deer die-offs of major proportions have occurred in the last year and fair fawn survival during the last few years indicates a fairly good supply of legal targets are present. Very dry conditions have concentrated deer near water, making them more available to the hunters than they normally would be. Generally, antler development looks to be better than last year. The opening will find many bucks with antlers still in the velvet. An extreme fire hazard exists throughout the area.

Alameda, Contra Costa, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz — Conditions in these counties are much the same as in Northern California, with deer generally in good condition, concentrating generally around watering areas and a high fire hazard existing. Private property, much of it closed because of fire conditions, may make hunting difficult in these counties.

San Joaquin, Merced, Stanislaus, Fresno, Kings, Kern — Only portions of these counties, in their westerly areas, are open in the early season. Very little area in San Joaquin County (southwest corner) is open and is posted, hunting by guests of owner only. A large portion of Kings is also posted. Fire danger is high.

Kern — The San Emidio Ranch Co-op will again be open to hunting by permit only by the Kern Land Company throughout the early season. Permits (175 per week) are available on a first-come, first-served basis at the Fairgrounds in Bakersfield. Hunters must apply beginning at 8 a.m. on the Saturday before the week they intend to shoot. Some 120,000 acres are available to hunting. Last year marked the first opening for the co-op and hunters bagged 65 bucks. In the Lebec-Frazier Mountain area the deer kill should be a bit higher than last year due to the early opening. Horns will be in the velvet and very soft, therefore they will not fight the brush. Water shortage prevails here, too, as some springs have already dried up. Weather should be warm and fire hazard will be high.

Fresno—The hunting area is in the Coalinga Hills, Parkfield, Wartham Canyon, Los Gatos Canyon and north into San Benito County. Permission to hunt on private property is granted only by land owners. Entire area is very hot and dry, with water holes scarce. Fire hazard high. Dirt roads not in good condition for sedan travel. Deer in good condition.

Merced—(Western portion). Lack of food and water will force deer to concentrate around water where they will be vulnerable to the hunter. Deer population, including bucks, is up from last year. Deer range dry and fire hazard exists. Water drying up fast and deer will be found near available water. All land privately owned and permission to hunt required. No land open to unattached hunter. Since the season is early a large percentage of the deer will be in the velvet in the first of the season.

Stanislaus — (Western portion). This area will be closed to the unattached hunter, since all land is private. Due to lack of rain, fire hazard will be very high. Deer smaller, but in good condition.

San Benito, Monterey, San Luis Obispo — The deer kill should be down somewhat in the extreme southern portions of the area. The balance, primarily northern San Luis Obispo, Monterey and San Benito counties should be about the same as last year. The northern counties are almost exclusively in private land ownership. Permission to hunt is required. Die-offs have occurred in some local areas, which may affect the bag somewhat; otherwise the deer kill should be about the same as in 1958. Condition of animals generally good.

Santa Barba—Deer plentiful but most of them are on private ranches not open to the public. Best hunting will be at relatively low elevations since feed and water are scarce in the high country. Popular areas open to public include the Refugio Burn on the coastal slope of the Santa Ynez Mountains south of Cachuma, Figueroa Mountain northeast of Los Olivos, and the Dalton Burn area southeast of Santa Maria. Permits required before entering the Dalton Burn area may be secured from the U.S. Forest Service Pine Canyon Guard Station or their checking station at Colson Canyon.

Ventura—Lots of deer and, in general, they should be at lower elevations and easier for the hunter to reach than last year. The Wheeler George-Nordhoff Peak area should be better than last year. Lockwood Valley, Mutau Flats and Grade Valley between Highways 99 and 399 should produce more deer than last year. Frazier Mountain and Mt. Pinos should produce about as last year, with the deer lower. Alamo Mountain, reached off Highway 99 south of Gorman, is expected to be open to vehicular traffic on weekends so the kill should be greater than in past years when hunters had to pack in.

Dunne Bros. Setting Pace At Belmont

Brothers from San Francisco are waging a personal battle for the championship of the new $99 value stock car and jalopy division racing each Friday night at Belmont Speedway.

Pat Dunne, in a 1949 Ford coupe, unseated brother Tom to grab a one point advantage in the standings after Tom had held the top place for two weeks. Tom drives a 1951 Plymouth sedan.

Close behind the brothers in the new "race for fun" division standings are John Romero and Dave Inch, San Francisco, and Jim Brown, Daly City. Only five points separate the first five positions.

Bob Massing, Redwood City, driving a 1938 Plymouth coupe, drove into contention by winning the last main event, with Emil Zola, Pacifica second. Pat Dunne ran third. It was Massing's second major victory of the season.

Unexpectedly large crowds have swelled the prize money, 40% of the net gate, so that the main event winner can collect as much as $65—good return on a $99 car. Any car is subject to claim by any fan or participant for $99 during the program.

Fifty-one cars competed last week, fourth program for the new division, and entries are expected to top 60 for this week's nine events, including heat races, trophy dash, consolation, semi-main and 20-lap (5 mile) main.

All races this week will be Le-Mans type, standing starts with motors running. Payoff will continue to be only to the 15 top finishers in the main, 10 top in the semi-main. Drivers win spots in money races by placing high in their heats.

NASCAR announced that two high point drivers will receive state championship trophies at end of the season. Two high point drivers will receive Belmont track championship trophies for the main event point group and three others in the semi-main event group. Owners and winningest cars get trophies also.

'FAMILY NIGHT' SOFTBALL GAME WON BY SONS

Second annual "Family Night" of James L. Snell's unincorporated area recreation program was held last Tuesday at Garden Village school playground.

The Fathers lost to the Sons in softball, 7-6, while mothers and daughters played ping pong, carroms and checkers. Refreshments completed the evening.

Youngsters present represented Garden Village and Ben Franklin school playgrounds.

'Buzz' Schuetz, Jeff Gridder, Inks With Navy

Walter "Buzz" Schuetz was removed from "Cold Storage" last week by Daly City's Navy Recruiter, Chief Ken Gaddis, and transferred to the Navy Recruit Training Center at San Diego, where he will undergo nine weeks of training.

"Buzz," son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Schuetz of 3275 Alemany boulevard, graduated from Jefferson High School in June. One of Jefferson's top football players, he qualified for the Navy's "Cold Storage" program while still in school.

Schuetz is taking advantage of the "Cold Storage" enlistment program which was initiated in May, 1959. This program, which is consistent with the Navy's Stay in School policy, guaranteed him the occupational field of his choice before enlisting.

Upon completion of 'boot training,' Buzz will be granted 14 days leave before reporting to his next duty station, Chief Gaddis said.

BB Gun Vandal Claims New Victim

Not content with shooting windows in used car lots, Daly City's young BB gun vandal is expanding his destructive operations.

William C. Shrum, 598-A Vista Grande avenue, told police that his rear car window had been shattered by a BB gun shot Sunday night.

Shrum said he heard an unusual noise at 6:30 p.m. but did not see anything on the street from his window. A neighbor told him at 9 p.m. that his window was broken.

Hunters Urged To Be Careful With Telescopic Sights

With the start of the early deer season only a week away, Fish and Game Director William E. Warne warned hunters today against the practice of using a telescopic gunsight as a telescope to identify other persons in the field.

"Wardens have been concerned about this habit ever since telescopic sights have become common," Warne said, and added "nearly every one of our wardens has seen hunters doing this from time to time."

"If the rifle's safety isn't on, or is defective," the Director continued, "a sudden noise nearby could easily cause him to involuntarily squeeze the trigger and there would be another needless hunting casualty."

Wardens think some unexplained accidents may have been caused in just such a way and point out that the practice violates one of the Ten Commandments of Hunter Safety: "Don't point a gun at anything you don't want to shoot."

So, if you're going to want to identify faraway persons or objects while hunting, use binoculars — not your telescopic sight.

State Is Planning Fifteen Deer Hunts

The scheduling of 15 deer hunts and one antelope hunt will be up for consideration when the California Fish and Game Commission meets in San Diego next week.

Among other highlights of the meeting's agenda will be confirmation of regulations adopted for the 1959 dove and pigeon seasons and bag limits within the framework of Federal regulations.

Grant Company Monthly Sales Hit New Peak

W. T. Grant Company June sales hit an all-time high for the month, $39,091,702, an increase of 19.92% over sales of $32,598,265 in June of 1958, and the greatest dollar increase for any June in the Company's history.

Sales for the first six months of the calendar year were $193,250,373, an increase of 15.12% over sales of $167,873,935 during the same period in 1958. The Grant Company operates 760 stores in 40 states.

STATE FISHERY EXPERTS STUDY SALMON PROJECT

Two Department of Fish and Game fishery experts are on a intensive tour of inspection of fishway facilities in the Pacific Northwest, to learn how Oregon, Washington and British Columbia are protecting salmon and steelhead waters in the face of increasing barriers to fish migration.

The Department hopes to find ways by which California's multi-million dollar salmon fishery can be maintained and enhanced, particularly as the State Water Plan progresses.

The trip was arranged by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service for the California men—John Mahoney, Fisheries Manager, and Leonard Fisk, Fisheries Biologist. Mahoney and Fisk were accompanied by Myer Samuel, Principal Hydraulic Engineer, California Department of Water Resources.

William E. Warne, Director of the California Department of Fish and Game, pointed out that because of federal appropriations for development of the Columbia River Basin, the Northwest has had much more money to spend on fisheries experimentation than has California.

"Presumably, then," Warne said, "we should be able to learn of techniques and facilities that would be adaptable to California's problems."

Westlake Bowl To Be Closed For 'Clean-up'

Swanson's Westlake Bowl will be closed next week—Monday through Friday—while its 32 lanes get a refurbishing job and work continues on 20 new lanes.

According to Leon Cohn, Bowl publicist, the 32 lanes will be scraped, sanded, leveled off and lacquered.

The big plant will open its doors again at 8 a.m. Saturday, August 1.

Completion date for the 20 new Brunswick lanes is August 10. At this time, Swanson's with a total of 52 lanes, will be North California's biggest and best equipped bowling center.

The Bowl offers a complete line of bowling gear, including balls, bags, shoes, shirts and towels.

Restaurant and snack bar facilities are open around the clock.

Gang Of Vandals Shatter Windows At Nurseries Here

Jennie Denton, 89 Second avenue, reported 12 broken windows to greenhouses on Castle street between Seconn and Third avenues Saturday morning at a cost of $36.

The woman said she heard the glass being broken at midnight and looked outside to see about 15 boys doing the damage with rocks. A few minutes earlier the same group of boys had broken glass in hot houses located in the Broadmoor area.

A search of the area by Daly City and Broadmoor police proved negative.
